

ABSTRACT OF DISCLOSURE

A charging system for a rechargeable battery with a rapid charge capacity. This invention relates to the charging system for the rechargeable battery with a rapid charge capacity which can be recharged at a public place. The charging system comprises a charging equipment for the rapid charge battery, a measurement display unit which measures and displays a charging condition and deterioration of the rapid charge battery, and a fee collection device which collects a charging fee.